AMERICAN IDEALISM

By Ruth Taylor

"Men fight best with ideas at the end of their bayonets," Spinoza said. He was right.
When the ideas of men are men, they become a conquering army, an invincible host.

Idealism is not an escape from reality. Idealism is reality.
Only as we look upward, only as we climb upward together, can we permanently realize any of our hopes of a better way of life for ourselves as individuals also, or for ourselves as a United States in a world of
United Nations.

Our nation was formed by people of diverse nationalities and traditions drawn together by a belief in the basic ideal of freedom and equality for all. Today as a nation we have expressed this ideal in the Four Freedoms. These freedoms are not for one group, or for one class, or for one creed, or for one color. They are for all the peoples of all the earth.

And it is through the practical application of these ideals that we will win not only the war but the peace to come.

Go back over the history of our nation. When ideals have been ignored, disaster has threatened. When ideals have been adhered to, our nation has grown. It was the idealism of the home that settled it. It was the ideal of the sanctity of man that shaped it. It was the idealism of understanding that gathered to it all the best of different faiths and made it the greatest nation on the earth.

The cornerstone of this nation is the acceptance of the agreement that we men of different backgrounds and faiths will work together for the good of all. We have a traditional ideal of brotherhood, regardless of class, creed or color.
I am, therefore, unalterably committed to such course of action, legislative and otherwise, as will assure the farmer part of the nation the right to work with
and for our fellow men.

Turning from a philosopher of the past to a columnist of the present, Walter Lippmann said: "When we pass the ammunition, let us not deny the Lord. Let us not in the name of realism deny the realities and fall into the heresy of believing that our morality is incompatible with our practical necessities. It is not.
There is no such horrid dilemma and the event will show there is none."

We are a nation of idealists. Let us not overlook the ideal, which, cynics to the contrary, motivates us.
In every emergency in our history it has been the force which has controlled our actions.

This the 6th day of December, 1943. GLADYS CLARK,
Deputy Register.

TO THE PEOPLE OF

THE THIRD CON-GRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

I am in the race for both the district and the full terms of Congress to succeed the late Henry B. Steagall.

Events shaping the future of our nation, as well as the other nations of the world for a long time possibly are now taking place, or they are in the making.
Manifestly therefore, this District needs representation in Congress at the earliest possible moment.

With the end of the War, and the coming of peace, many issues will arise that do not now exist.

However, there is in my judgment, one question that more vitally concerns the future peace and well-being of this country than any other, and that is the question of preparedness.

I favor the nation of the United States with Great Britain, Russia, and China.
I want to see these four nations strong and united, and the aggressive acts of any nation or combination of nations.

And finally, I want to see the United States so powerfully armed and trained that we need fear no nation
United Nations.

If we in this country had spent during the last ten years but a small part of the cost to us of the present War in arming, training, and making this nation strong, the nightmare of Pearl Harbor would not have been, and thousands of our youth now living but
peoples of all the earth.

By wise planning now and by the sensible utilization after the War of the great advantages and resources of this country, economic security will be assured for all—the business man, the farmer, the professional man, the working man, the aged and the needy.

Being a veteran of World War I, I know first-hand of some of the problems facing the veterans of this War.
Let us, therefore, let us provide jobs and the opportunity to earn the good things of life; for the disabled, rehabilitation, if possible, and at least, the security, the comfort and contentment that only the best of different faiths and faiths will work together
a traditional ideal of brotherhood,
regardless of class, creed or color.
I am, therefore, un-
and for our fellow men.

The treasured rights of the individual so long maintained and respected by our great nation, were won by bloodshed and after centuries of struggle. Believing as with natural laws, that if we fail so long to exercise these rights, then we shall lose them. If we continue to dump every problem of business and Government into the lap of the Government at Washington, then that something going to make up the great and ingenious personality of the American citizen, will be irretrievably lost.

I should like to see the States, counties, cities, and towns of this country re-assert their rights, and re-assume those duties and responsibilities of government which they rightly belong to them.

To such thought, plans, and organizations, whether business, farming, professional or political, seeking to bring any or all of these things substantially to pass, I pledge my wholehearted support in Congress or out of Congress.

CHRIST THE FULFILLMENT OF THE LAW

LESSON TEXT—Hebrews 1:1-3; Romans 10:4-10. TEXT—God . . . hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son—Hebrews 1:1, 2.

The center of all Christian thinking is the fact that God has revealed Himself to man. This revelation is found in the Bible, for it is the Word of God. That is why the commands which we have studied in recent weeks speak to us with such authority. They are not the expression of human opinion of how we should live. They are God's command which we are to obey.

The great and final revelation of God and His love was not the written Word of the Bible, but the living Word—His Son. The coming of Christ is our lesson for next week.
Christmas Sunday. But this week we want to learn a little more of what His coming into the world meant. He was—

I. God's Last Word (Heb. 1:1-3).
Through the ages God had been speaking through the prophets, constantly revealing Himself as a God of power, justice, holiness, truth and mercy.

In different ways and at various times (v. 1) He spoke through them.
He spoke through the prophets, constantly revealing Himself as a God
mercy. He spoke through the prophets, constantly revealing Himself as a God
mercy. He spoke through the prophets,
mercy.

Let us be clear about this: In Christ God's revelation is perfect and complete. We need look for nothing more. The claims of those who appear with a "new light" or some mysterious hidden power so obviously untrue that we ought not to be at all interested.

But not only is Christ God's final Word, He is—
II. God's Best Word (Heb. 1:4-3).
The prophets and their messengers, who were sent to us, were thrill our souls and move us to more earnest living. But the Christ is our very life as well as our Redeemer.

The angels are God's messengers —mighty and magnificent beings, superior in their way to man (Ps.
8:5). The early church made too much of angels (as do some groups today), but Protestantism of our day has made too little of them. They are great and powerful beings who minister on our behalf and who are honored in the loyal service they do for God.

But when they stand beside the Son of God, it becomes evident that He holds a place of incomparable glory and majesty. He is the highest revelation of God, the best Word that God could have spoken to needy and sinful humanity.

We do well to think of what Christ is and what He has done. Just in this passage from Hebrews we find that He is the express image of all of God's glory; He is the upholder of all creation; He has the place of honor and power at God's right hand; He is the only begotten of Father; His throne has been established forever, and so on.

How well high unbelievable that this glorious One is also our Savior. This is stated in verse 3, but is developed in our next point.
III. God's Saving Word (Rom. 10: 4-10).

If sinful man were only permitted to look on His glory it would not be a great privilege, but it would not help him in his desire for holiness and eternal joy. There was a "great gulf fixed" between sinful man and a holy God until the Son of God became the God-man, when the eternal Word became "flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14).

Christ as our Saviour is the "end of the law" to the believer (v. 4), not in the sense that He terminates the law by setting it aside, but by completing or fulfilling all of its requirements.

Just so the Christian is set free from the law, not in order that he may disobey it, but that he may keep it in the power and grace which Christ gives him. The Ten Commandments are the law of life for the Christian because he loves the Lord Jesus Christ and wants to obey Him. He does the things which the Decalogue require not to be saved thereby, but because he thereby honors the name of our Saviour.

The unbeliever, struggling under the burden of sin, says, "How can I come to know Him?" and we find the answer in verses 8-10. It is "by faith."

British Fliers Are

Superstitious Lot

Leave Goodies in Plane to Pacify 'Gremlins'

BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND—Days at this RAF bomber base think they have found a way to pacify those gremlins. Little is heard these days about the little demons who put the hex on fliers, and here's probably the reason why:

When the bombers take off, each crew is given a more than ample supply of chocolate and other sweets for the long flights deep into the heart of Germany, which often take six or seven hours.

Hardly ever do they eat all these goodies, so, when they are safely back, the rations are carefully left in the bomber for the gremlins.
The little men, who are sometimes pictured carrying pitchforks, naturally are not going to pass up such a feast in favor of shenanigans that would cause a crackup.

But Pilot Officer Ken Painter of Brighton, pilot of "X" for "X-ray," the veteran bomber at this base, with 45 raids—says that "really we are not superstitious as to why."

Painter would not think of wearing heavy fleec-lined flying boots, even though the RAF has ordered them for some time now. But he says, it isn't any superstition—just that he doesn't like to be forced to haul out his boots if it doesn't work.

"X" for "X-ray" is a four-engine Lancaster with an inscription in Portuguese on the side reading "God takes care of drunks and babies." The inscription was placed there by a Portuguese pilot who preceded Painter at controls.

She has a card—happy-go-lucky crew. A rag doll—Alice—goes along on every flight. Not because of superstition, mind you, just a mascot.

MEXICAN GUERRILLA ARMY ON A nain some of the best military schools of the world, were announced recently by Antonio Jimenez, head of the new formed Legion of Mexiof the legion has been approved with "great approval" by the Mexican president.

Jimenez said his plan was to organize the legion as the main part of this country's army, and to establish a system of rapid communication which would permit quick mobilization in an emergency.

Switzerland Is Swamped

NEW YORK—A total of 2,000 refugees from Europe's war-torn countries and 900 escaped prisoners of war arrived in Switzerland in the last week and the influx continues at the rate of 200 to 300 a day, a Swiss broadcast recorded by the OWI reported.

The broadcast described a discussion in the Swiss national council of this country's refugees in Japan.
The mountain republic by the increasing number of refugees as well as the 60,000 foreign soldiers now in-

NEW YORK—An epidemic of occupied Peking and Tientsin, has broken out in Anpei and Wu-yuan, two of the largest towns in the western part of Szechuan province, China, the Chungking radio said recently. The epidemic said that more than 50 deaths had been reported from Anpei and Wu-yuan and "the toll of lives is already heavy" in Peking and Tientsin.

She Wants to Go Buzzing

Just Where the Bears Go

NEW YORK—A pretty 19-year-old girl was taken to Bellevue hospital for observation after being prevented from leaping from the top of a skeletal building at 1 East 15th street.

While a large crowd gathered and police arrived with nets, a building maintenance man seized the girl as she walked toward the roof edge.
When police asked her name, she replied:

"I want to go buzzing where the bears go."

PRIVATE CHANCELLOR WRITES FROM ITALY

Dear Editor:

Today, November 17th, three years ago I left Elba and I am glad that I am still hanging around to say hello to Elba friends, my wife and baby and other loved ones. Yes, it is just as tough as you hear most of the boys say it is. I hope and pray that I can make it on through. As a private I don't play any big part in the war. My job is aircraft machine gunner, but it is a big part when about 15 Messerschmitts get in a circle over your head with eggs under their wings. We pulled in a lemon orchard one night and had plenty of lemonade for a day and night, and I began to think of those little birds I killed on Sunday.

We pulled in a position once in Sicily almost on a little town. Had a bad road turn just before our position and I don't know why, but Jerry pumped about 50 rounds at us while we were getting in position and hit that little town and did some damage. A German came by where I was digging in machine gun with a baby three days old. Next step looked like her belly was full of milk. Her husband could speak English.

In case you people would like to know in the States, you are in heaven. We sure have plenty room for you tufties, anti cowboys, milk shakers, draft dodgers and coal miners. Yes, you're in heaven. You angels of this type who don't know how to fly, better learn, for the fish army is about to come home in the sweet bye and bye. Good luck to all you good people and God bless you. Piled in a private's heaven. Thanks for the paper.

IF YOU NEED GLASSES

It Will Pay You to Wait For BARSON!

After all, it's the examination that counts. Correct, scientific examination of your eyes is the ONLY way to determine whether or not you need glasses. My friends in fitting glasses, gained through years of practice, has given me a State-wide reputation. Among your relatives and acquaintances you will find somebody who will tell you how satisfactory my work is.

Because I specialize in this work only—scientific examination and proper fitting of glasses—you are assured of complete satisfaction.

TWICE EACH MONTH

I am at Whitman Drug Company in Elba the First Wednesday and again on the Third Sunday afternoon of each month.

Advertizing

Isn't Perfect

Some advertisements are better than others, just as some show windows are better than others. Or as some salesmen are better than others.

So newspaper advertizing isn't perfect but it does a better job than any other method yet discovered.

It tells you what is to be had, when to buy it, and it is the cheapest way of doing this job.

An adv run regularly every week in these columns will pay big dividends.

Dear Editor:

Today, November 17th, three years ago I left Elba and I am glad that I am still hanging around to say hello to Elba friends, my wife and baby and other loved ones. Yes, it is just as tough as you hear most of the boys say it is. I hope and pray that I can make it on through. As a private I don't play any big part in the war. My job is aircraft machine gunner, but it is a big part when about 15 Messerschmitts get in a circle over your head with eggs under their wings. We pulled in a lemon orchard one night and had plenty of lemonade for a day and night, and I began to think of those little birds I killed on Sunday.

We pulled in a position once in Sicily almost on a little town. Had a bad road turn just before our position and I don't know why, but Jerry pumped about 50 rounds at us while we were getting in position and hit that little town and did some damage. A German came by where I was digging in machine gun with a baby three days old. Next step looked like her belly was full of milk. Her husband could speak English.

In case you people would like to know in the States, you are in heaven. We sure have plenty room for you tufties, anti cowboys, milk shakers, draft dodgers and coal miners. Yes, you're in heaven. You angels of this type who don't know how to fly, better learn, for the fish army is about to come home in the sweet bye and bye. Good luck to all you good people and God bless you. Piled in a private's heaven. Thanks for the paper.
